

Zager Named Risk Management Coordinator Of The Year

June 23, 2003, Waterford, Mich. - The Middle Cities Risk Management Trust has announced that Mark Zager, Assistant Director of Transportation, Security, and Risk Management, Waterford School District, has been named the 2002-2003 Risk Management Coordinator of the Year.

This annual award recognizes individuals within the Trust membership who embrace and excel in educational risk management during the past year. Zager has significantly contributed to the risk management efforts of the Trust by being an active member on the Trust's Risk Management Committee and spearheading risk management initiatives within the Waterford School District.

Zager has organized risk management training for staff, facilitated the regular meeting of a safe schools committee, implemented numerous security measures, and has been instrumental in coordinating some large property loss claims during the past year. His efforts have helped to reduce the district's loss exposures, kept low the overall loss experience of the district, and increased staff's awareness of risk management issues.

Middle Cities Risk Management Trust is an organization providing comprehensive insurance coverage, cost effective financial protection, and nationally recognized resources for professional risk management.
